GABRIELA HEARST

"I always like the saying that you can take the girl out of the country, but not the country out of the girl," says Uruguayan-born designer Gabriela Hearst. Her heritage is "so much part of who I am and how I deem what is important or not and my value system. It is everything." She and her fellow Latinx designers "always have a way of expressing our culture that resonates in a very beautiful way in fashion. I would say we bring some attitude." Now at the helm of Chloé as well as her namesake brand, the CFDA member cites Carolina Herrera and Oscar de la Renta as early inspirations, and she is doing her part to mentor those coming up behind her by offering "whatever I can share: my experience, my mistakes, what has worked, my point of view," she says. "I am of service, especially for the up-and-coming designers, because the world is theirs."

Left, on Gabriela Hearst: Dress, $2,990, pants, $3,500, sandals, $950, Gabriela Hearst.

Right, on Manuela Sanchez: Dress, $6,895, belt, $380, boots, $1,595, Chloé.
